Court overturns wage rollbacks

Raises restored for current GC workers

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Assistant City Attorney Irvin Slate Jr. cited court rulings dating back to the tenure of U. S. Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, but Chief Third Circuit Judge Joseph Barr issued a temporary injunction Thursday afternoon against the city's wage rollback.

Attorneys for Granite City municipal employees succeeded in at least temporarily reversing Mayor Paul Schulz's decision to sign no paychecks at rates exceeding the 1980-81 level.

At stake were raises of 9 percent that became effective with the start of the fiscal year on May 1 and further raises scheduled for November and March. Taking care to avoid indicating what his ultimate ruling might be regarding the financially-squeezed city, which has been laying off dozens of workers, Judge Barr accepted the argument that the rollback could harm employees if it was allowed to remain in effect while the issue was being decided.

Specific wording of the temporary order was drawn up by the three attorneys after the hearing.

Attorney Melissa Auerbach told the court the mayor lacked authority to reduce salaries outlined in properly approved ordinances, and Attorney William Brandt contended that the rollback violated constitutional provisions separating legislative and executive powers.

They were given two weeks to answer Slate's dismissal motion, which said there were other ways than an injunction to resolve the dispute.

With more than a dozen of the employees present at the hearing in the Madison County Courthouse at Edwardsville, the chief judge listened to the views of the three lawyers for more than an hour and then without further deliberation announced at 2:50 p.m. Thursday that he would sign a temporary injunction.

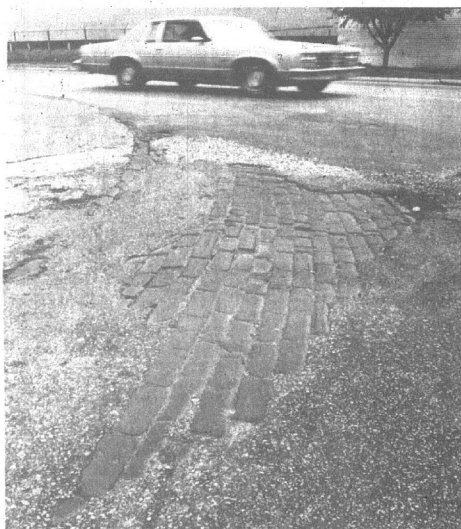

Brandt represented Firefighters Local 253, composed of city firemen and emergency personnel, and Teamsters Local 525, consisting of street, sanitation, sewer and humane department workers. They filed suit July 9 against the city, the mayor, City Clerk Robert Stevens and City Treasurer Clark Petrillo.

Miss Auerbach flew here from Chicago to speak for two American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees union, Local 1347, consisting of police officers, and Local 799, clerical employees. They sued the city July 10, and Judge Barr informally consolidated the two suits.

During opening stipulations that preceded a recess for lunch, Brandt disagreed with inclusion of references to the city having insufficient revenue to meet its payroll. Slate said cities are prohibited from making payments for which they lack funds.

The Chicagoan related that current pay ordinances received majority City Council support and contain the 'OLD STREETS NEVER DIE . . .' to paraphrase an old saying, is evident at the intersection of 19th Street and Madison Avenue where old, red-brick pavement appears from time to time. Street department workers have patched the area frequently, but recent cutbacks in that department's expenditures and workers could lengthen the time between patchings. The old pavement was laid more than 50 years ago and has been paved over numerous times since.

Deadline this week on 'red ink' budget

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Little progress was made as the Granite City Council worked on a budget for the 1981-82 fiscal year during a special meeting of the council Thursday night and the council agreed to "go at it again" in another special meeting tonight.

"I think we took one step toward having a budget and solving our money problems," Mayor Paul Schulz said Friday, adding, "I think the aldermen now realize we need added revenue and now know how." He said he believes utility taxes are the most logical answer to the city's problems and is studying a possible one percent tax on electricity and five percent on telephone bills.

The main problem the council is trying to solve is how to support nearly $9 million in obligations with approximately $7,141,500 in income.

Latest budget proposals total $7,489,021, but they do not include approximately one-half million in raises the court ordered restored to employees Thursday, or provide for repayment of up to $1.2 million the city now is borrowing to pay its obligations and keep operating until new tax funds are received, probably in October.

Underlying Thursday night's meeting was the clear message that the city must increase its revenues if it is to continue to provide vital services. Schulz warned the aldermen that unless they approve a utility tax or find another way of increasing the city's income, Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles may find it necessary to nearly double the real estate tax on city residents to support even a "bare bones" city budget.

Alderman Mac Warfield of the Sixth

Ward said he had talked to some state legislators and feels that the city could receive approval in October to impose a city earning's tax. Although Granite City is a home-rule city, approval of the legislature is required before an earnings tax or sales tax can be imposed. Such approval was given for a one-quarter cent sales tax to support mass transit which took effect Feb. 1.

Alderman Jake Varadian of the Fifth Ward objected to the form of the proposed budget given the aldermen by the administration and said he has yet to see a clear set of figures upon which the aldermen can act. Other aldermen echoed the sentiments, including Paul Ray Bowler of the Seventh Ward, chairman of the council's finance committee.

"The proposed figures don't reflect the council's wishes and don't make any provision for such things as an increase of more than 30 percent in the cost of electricity and other rising costs," Bowler said after the meeting. Schulz estimated the city's income at $7,141,500 for the fiscal year, which began May 1. That includes $2,500,000 from real estate taxes, $1,667,120 from the state sales tax, $718,468 from the state income tax, $1,022,802 in corporate replacement taxes, $146,653 from court fines, $609,520 in miscellaneous fees and city licenses.

Willie Fay, retired society editor, dies

Miss Willie Fay, 89, of 2036A Cleveland Blvd., society editor of the Granite City Press-Record for several decades, died at 9:04 p.m. Friday, July 24, 1981, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

She had been in failing health for the past year and was a hospital patient for eight weeks.

A Press-Record employee for 44 years, Miss Fay was a tradition at the local newspaper many years before women broke the invisible barrier into the newsmen's world.

She joined the staff in 1927 and for nearly 15 years worked mostly in her own home on Benton Street, walking daily to the Press-Record office with her copy.

With the advent of World War II and the loss of several young male employees from the news staff, Miss Fay was asked to work in the office full time.

Initially, her duties at the newspaper not only included writing social items, but also helping with classified advertisements and editing in the display advertising department.

Miss Fay was seldom away from her desk for almost 30 years until she retired in September 1971 at the age of 79.

She was blessed with an extraordinary memory and an infinite knowledge of this community and was regarded by the entire news staff as a key resource for providing background material for many news stories.

In her years at the Press-Record, Miss Fay made thousands of friends and often remarked that she "not only got them married, but also recorded the arrival of their children and their children's children."

The veteran newswoman had written third generation weddings in several families, a record matched by few society editors.

Miss Fay was born in Tennessee and had moved to Granite City as a young woman.

She was educated at St. Catherine's School for Young Women in Grenada, Miss.

Miss Fay was a member of Central Christian Church.

She had no known surviving family members, but leaves many friends, including Mrs. Maxine Dacus and Mr. and Mrs. Jule D. (Betty) Barriels, all of Granite City, and the Press-Record staff members.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Town police regroup

The police car formerly operated by the Natchez Volunteer Police struggle was disbanded last year but will once again be patrolling the township in a week to 10 days, according to Madison County Sheriff Emil Toffant.

Toffant told the Crime Prevention Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Friday that he has reached agreement with Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs and with five township volunteers to reactivate the program and to designate the five as "reserve deputies."

He said new legislation in Illinois allows him to have reserve deputies and gives him the authority to establish such a body. "They will have the same rights as dedicated, good people, background checks have been run on them and they have been firearm trained. They will receive no salary," the sheriff said.

He said the volunteers have agreed to take additional training three hours a week for 10 weeks to better learn their jobs and responsibilities.

Toffant said he hopes to expand the reserve force to eight Nameoki Township volunteers in the near future.

"I think this will be a deterrent to crime. Just the sight of a squad car cruising a neighborhood makes a burglar think, 'Let's go somewhere else.' Harry Briggs has been very, very cooperative and the township has agreed to release the car and pay for the gasoline. I will assume the costs of maintenance and insurance," Toffant explained.

He said the reserve car will patrol any area of the township where there is a problem. "It may stay in State Park Place for three or four days, if there is a problem there, and then I might send it to the Bend Road area near Horseshoe Lake for a few days. It will be flexible," Toffant said.

He told the committee that the car was in Troy Friday having the police radio installed. The reserve deputies

Outside judge in Portell case

Circuit Court Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portell's continuing struggle to obtain more office space for his staff heated up late last week.

Chief Circuit Judge Joseph J. Barr approved Portell's request for a change of venue in his July 2 lawsuit against the 29-member Madison County Board, Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer and the board's building committee and its chairman, Charles Bode. A "foreign judge will hear the case."

County Board members were among those touring the clerical offices last week with the veteran circuit clerk, who alleges that overcrowding creates health and fire hazards for personnel and records in the County Courthouse.

A study of possible building alterations was in progress Thursday, with various divisions of the clerk's office cooperating in identifying their specific space needs.

Discussion intensified on the possibility of constructing a new administrative building to help house the expanding county government.

The change of venue granted by Judge Barr will allow a judge from outside the Third Judicial Circuit to hear the suit.

In his request for the change, Portell said he "fears and believes" he would not receive "a fair and impartial hearing and determination of any and all matters concerning said cause...if heard and determined by any of the judges of this circuit, because of their prejudices."

The Madison County Courthouse is partially the subject of this suit and is a proper place for the trial, but it would be more properly heard by a foreign judge."

No objection was filed by the county, and the chief judge ordered that Roy O. Gulley, director of the administrative office of the Illinois courts, be asked to assign a judge to the case.

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith, legal adviser to the County Board, filed a motion asking the court to dismiss the suit.

Smith said the county government has admitted there is a space problem and that many offices are crowded.

His motion says the board "has indicated in a positive fashion its

Amsted sales down, so are freight car orders

Amsted Industries Inc., parent firm of the American Steel Foundries, announced last week that sales in the nine months ended June 30 were $647.1 million, down $50.4 million, or 7.3 percent, from the same period a year ago.

Earnings amounted to $41.3 million, or $3.82 per share, down from $51.6 million, or $5.71 per share. Sales and earnings in the year-ago period were record highs.

Robert H. Wellington, president, said net income amounted to 6.4 percent of sales compared to 8.7 percent a year ago.

He said the lower margin resulted principally from a reduced volume of railroad product shipments which were at a more profitable, full-capacity, operating level last year.

In the three months ended June 30, sales amounted to $211 million, down $26 million, or 11 percent, from the same period last year. Net income was $12.9 million, or $1.18 per share, compared to $19.6 million, or $1.82 per share.

Net income in the June quarter amounted to 6.1 percent of sales compared to 8.3 percent in the comparable period last year. In the nine months, railroad product sales of $297.3 million were down $80.9 million, or 21 percent, principally reflecting a lower level of new freight car building. Sales of general industrial products were $176.5 million, up $5.9 million, or three percent.

Construction and building products sales amounted to $173.3 million, up $15.6 million, or 10 percent, due to higher sales of pressure pipe for water transmission and increased sales of plastic pipe and pipe coatings for gas distribution.

In the first nine months of fiscal 1981, additions to property were $51.8 million. Large projects include construction of a new railroad wheel plant near Columbus, Ohio, and a major expansion at the Alliance, Ohio, plant to increase production capacity for coupling equipment for the railroads.

Additional projects include capacity increases at other existing plants for production of freight car trucks and wheels, diesel pipe products, roller chain and piston pins.

Wellington said Amsted's backlog of orders on June 30, 1981, was $262 million. This compares to $333 million Sept. 30, 1980, and $391 million a year ago.

Orders for new and repair freight car components, while still the largest account in the backlog, decreased from both a year ago and the beginning of the fiscal year.

The backlog of orders for general industrial products is up from both a year ago and the beginning of the year, reflecting higher orders for mechanical power transmission components.

Unfilled orders for construction and building products, which historically have represented the smallest portion of the backlog, are down from the start of the fiscal year and from a year ago. There are lower orders for valves because of reduced power plant construction and cutbacks in funding for new sewage treatment facilities. Wellington said, "Income for the last quarter of the fiscal year is expected to approximate that of the September quarter last year, but will be lower than the quarter just ended."

"A continuing low level of freight car building, combined with normal vacation shutdowns, are the primary factors affecting the near-term outlook."

"Longer term, the company should be favorably affected by the need for energy-efficient railroad traffic and the deferred demand for new housing."

The board of directors of Amsted declared a quarterly dividend of 62 cents per share payable on Sept. 15 to stockholders of record on Aug. 20.

NEW PARK COMMISSIONER Walter Milton, right, is administered the oath of office last week by park board secretary Frank Rea. Milton fills the vacant seat left by the resignation of David Nolan in June.

Two injured, man charged

Gary Kiselka, 24, of 2308 Miracle Ave., charged with two counts of aggravated battery at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday on the Keith's Lounge parking lot, pleaded innocent before Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand Thursday afternoon. Bond was set at $2,000 cash and he was returned to custody.

Jackie Johnson, 3108 Kirkpatrick Homes, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center with a bump on the back of the head. It was alleged that she was pulled from an auto, thrown to the parking lot surface and then dragged. She lost consciousness from the injury.

Police confiscated a steak knife and said Mike Roberts, 2438 Benton St., was treated for a six-inch cut on the neck, a six-inch cut on the right arm and a cut on the left little finger.

It was alleged that Roberts confronted Kiselka after the Johnson injury and while Dorothy Kiselka was being choked.

Faces two charges after man is beaten

Leland Mathis, 27, of 3226A Kilarney Ave., was charged with criminal damage to property and battery after he allegedly beat and punched Britton of the 3300 block of Wilshire Drive, in the parking lot of Corral Lounge, 3304 Nantook Road, at 3:05 a.m. Sunday. Britton also alleged that Mathis broke the driver's side window of Britton's auto with a fist.

Police arrived, saw that Britton was bleeding from the mouth and face and that the car window was broken. Mathis was taken into custody and several witnesses were asked to go to the police station to give statements.

As one witness, Larry Felner of the 2500 block of Stratford Lane, was leaving the police station, he was approached by another man, who asked Felner if he was the one who called police. When Felner said he was, the other man punched his face.

Police came outside and arrested Kenneth P. Colletta, 40, St. Louis, and charged him with battery. Mathis was released at Britton's home at 3:40 a.m. and Colletta was released on $35 cash at 4:20 a.m.

Machine aids police

It's only a machine, but records kept by the Granite City (Trust) Bank's Total Teller banking machine on Madison Avenue across from Granite City High School South may help police in identifying who damaged the machine.

The machine was damaged approximately 2:05 a.m. Friday. Someone used a pointed object to pierce the keyboard and damage the electronics in the machine. The last recorded transaction before the machine was damaged showed that a young Madison man tried to withdraw $5 from his checking account, but was refused.

Police plan to question the man in connection with the damage.

Madison, Venice to meet on new budgets

The Madison and Venice city councils will each hold meetings Tuesday night to adopt their 1981-82 budgets.

The new Venice budget figures tentatively $1,300,000, an increase of only $26,275, over the 1980-81 budget of $1,273,711.

A tentative budget for the city of Madison, is projected at $2.8 million. This is a reduction of $300,000 from the 1980-81 budget which was $3.1 million.

Most of the $300,000 deleted from the tentative new budget was for the rail pass in the Stephen Maers Industrial Park.

Both cities are projecting basically the same budget as last year, and in general are not granting any raises to city employees.

The Madison budget meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Madison city hall.

Construction workers are anxiously watching the talks still in progress because a strike by any one of the unions would bring nearly all construction in the area to a halt, similar to the two-month stalemate in 1978.

NIEDRINGHAUS CRASH
Ernest Weiss, 28, St. Louis, was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of injuries sustained at 1:50 p.m. Wednesday as the truck of Thomas Luster, Cahokia, made a right turn from Niedringhaus Avenue onto Benton Street. There was damage to the left front of his auto and the right rear tire of the truck. Both vehicles were eastbound.

Arrests during four Kirkpatrick fights

It was a restless night. Saturday and early Sunday in Kirkpatrick Homes as police answered four disturbance calls, including two of large fights, arrested six persons and took reports on four persons being injured.

The first call was at 10 p.m. Saturday to a fight in the 4400 block of Kirkpatrick Homes, allegedly involving bats, a chain and numerous persons.

No weapons were found when police arrived, but Donald Garriss, 3403 Kirkpatrick Homes, was injured and said he and his wife, Peggy, had been attacked by a group of about five youths. They said they were walking near the 3400 block when the five approached and threatened them. Garriss said he tried to talk to one of the youths, but the others started punching and kicking him. Peggy Garriss was struck on the face with a fist, pushed down and called a name.

The Garriss couple ran to the 4400 block, but the youths caught Donald Garriss again and struck him several more times before the attackers ran away, according to official reports.

While officers were attempting to determine what had happened, a 16-year-old walked by and was identified as one of the attackers. He was taken into custody and faces juvenile court action.

Arrested moments later nearby was Jerry Bladdick, 19, of 3112 Kirkpatrick Homes, who was identified by Garriss as one of the youths involved. He was lodged in jail on two state charges of battery. Garriss required treatment at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, it was reported.

Police were called again to the housing project at 11:50 p.m. Saturday on a report that a large fight was brewing at 4106 Kirkpatrick Homes. Officers asked Ronald B. Barnett, 2445 Edwards St., who lived in that apartment and Barnett allegedly said, "We all do."

Barnett allegedly was outside with a beer in his hand. His identification showed that he did not reside there and he was asked to leave, police said. When Barnett refused to leave, he was charged with trespassing and public consumption of alcohol.

At 12:25 a.m. Sunday, officers were told that there was a disturbance in a parking lot near the 4700 block of Kirkpatrick Homes. Officers found James Null, 18, of 4111 Kirkpatrick Homes, talking rudely to a woman who was crying and upset, police alleged.

The woman tried to leave and Null was told to leave her alone, but he allegedly went to her car, cursed her, poked at her and created a disturbance. He was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

Police noted that Null had cuts and abrasions to his head from fighting. At 2:55 a.m. Sunday, there was another disturbance in the 4400 block of Kirkpatrick Homes and officers found several persons milling outside and drinking beer.

They were ordered to go inside and most complied, but two refused and were arrested. Clifford L. Koelan, 21, of 3502 Kirkpatrick Homes, and Ronnie D. Bates, 27, of 1 Parktowne Drive, were charged with public consumption of alcohol.

Bates also was charged with trespassing, since he does not live in the housing project, police said.

mayor's signature. "They are still in effect," she emphasized.

"There is no doubt that lower wages are a clear violation of the ordinances. The mayor is acting without any authority, and we ask for an injunction to bring the wage rates up to the level in effect prior to July 1."

The clerical workers represented by her are a newly organized group. They are employed in a number of city departments, including engineering, building, zoning, non-uniform police, air pollution, ambulance, billing, treasurer and city clerk staffs.

All parties to the suit stipulated that the July 15 ordinance, which set amounts below those agreed upon for the year beginning May 1, 1981.

Stressing that the rollback was distasteful to city officials, Slate argued that the municipal government's budget imbalance nevertheless must be considered.

The other two attorneys said the financial status had no relevance to the technical question of whether wage agreements must be implemented as written.

The assistant city attorney pointed out that he had a personal conflict of interest, in that his pay also had been decreased, but noted that the mayor had asked him to continue handling the suit.

All three officials named as defendants were present but did not speak at the hearing. They also had experienced salary cuts.

Mayor Schuler commented briefly afterward, "We will do what the judge said."

He had felt that the pay rollback combined with 10 percent cuts in departmental costs or staffing might have given the city a bit of financial "breathing room." Instead, tax hikes and further layoffs are expected to be considered.

Slate's dismissal motion asserted there is "no irreparable harm, and there is adequate remedy at law." He said any suits should be by individuals, and Brandt countered by saying that would require 250 court cases rather than one or two.

The assistant city attorney next told the court that workers had the option of filing grievances. The employees' lawyers replied that grievances can only be pursued as far as department heads, who lack power to force the mayor to sign bigger paychecks.

Miss Auerbach said, "I object to the motion for dismissal because there is no adequate remedy at law. The Illinois Supreme Court in 1976 said that the American Federation of Technical Engineers could not file suit at law."

"It would be futile to pursue grievance procedures as a remedy," Illinois courts have held that injunctive action is the proper means to enforce a contract with a municipality, such as the Village of Arlington Heights. "The City of Aurora was ordered by a court of equity to carry out the terms of its contract. We need similar equity."

"The Woolfolk vs. Board of Fire and Police Commissioners case also held that an ordinance cannot be repealed, modified or amended except by the municipal authorities who adopted it."

"A Cook County case showed that a temporary injunction is needed, because it might later be shown that the governmental body is not liable for the unlawful acts of its officials. It would be detrimental to the members of these locals if they could collect only from the individual city officials."

"Other cases show that insolvency of a municipality does not change its duty to uphold its contracts."

"It is proposed to pay everyone at the level in effect April 30, 1981. Employees are unhappy because they are being asked to accept the same level that they were being paid without any complaints less than three months ago."

"As high an authority as the U. S. Supreme Court has upheld the right of a city to refuse to pay money that it does not have."

Miss Auerbach concluded her presentation by saying no parties had disputed the contention that the requirements of Granite City ordinances are not being followed. She asked, "Why would the city enact ordinances if they are to have no meaning?"

Brandt said individual suits would be impractical and costly, requiring 250 filing fees, 250 notices of service by the sheriff, and other procedures.

Judge Barr complimented the attorneys for their thorough approach, although conceding that he would have preferred to see the disagreement settled without court action.

He said his issuance of a temporary order does not constitute a victory for anyone.

Barr said he regards the injunction as a temporary expediency to maintain the status quo while further arguments are heard and considered.

The chief judge delayed setting the date for a hearing on a permanent injunction, and indicated it may not be held if the city pays its employees on the basis of existing pay ordinances.

The question of back pay for the July 15 payroll may be dealt with by the City Council or could become the subject of new court activity by the employee groups.

Les Keck, associate director of AFSCME Council 31, praised the decision Friday, saying, "Judge Barr's decision is a victory for all Granite City employees and for AFSCME Local 1847. We fully expect the city to comply with this injunction and make their employees whole for the money they have already lost. The judge simply told the city they must obey their own ordinances," Keck contended.

Citing rulings involving Granite City contractors, Slate asserted that employees can protect themselves from financial harm but that the city might not be able to collect contractual damages.

He said pay ordinances mention employees by name and that the issue

Expert appraising Morris Realty Co.

Miles said there has been construction work, but the county does not want to pay the bill until all residents are satisfied, so the sewers can be given final acceptance.

Mrs. Kane said at the last meeting of the sewer committee that she will set up a meeting with the Wilson officials to try and get the complaints resolved as soon as possible.

At that meeting, Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith, who is serving as legal counsel for the sewer committee, predicted that the monthly charge for sewer maintenance and treatment may rise Jan. 1, unless more people tap onto the system. He said 3,700 people need to be tapped on by Jan. 1 to support the cost of operating the sewer district.

The special sewer committee's new chairman, Morris Miles of Chouteau Township, accused Smith of "blowing smoke" and trying to use scare tactics to force people to tap onto the system. He said he hopes more people will tap on soon, but said he will oppose any attempt to raise the treatment and sewer maintenance fee above the $15 per month now being charged.

Miles said there has been

Mary Kane to try and resolve complaints in sewer district

Nearly 500 complaints by Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice township residents against S.M. Wilson & Co., contractor of the new Four Township sanitary sewers, are to be referred to Mary Kane, administrative assistant to Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer, to try and resolve the differences.

Most of the complaints are from homeowners whose property or sewer lines were disturbed during construction of the new sewers and who are unhappy with the way the contractor restored the damages.

Until the properties are properly restored and the homeowners are satisfied, the county cannot give final acceptance to the sewer project and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) will not release the final payment from the sewer grant.

The Wilson firm is requesting final payment from the county for the construction work, but the county does not want to pay the bill until all residents are satisfied, so the sewers can be given final acceptance.

Mrs. Kane said at the last meeting of the sewer committee that she will set up a meeting with the Wilson officials to try and get the complaints resolved as soon as possible.

At that meeting, Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith, who is serving as legal counsel for the sewer committee, predicted that the monthly charge for sewer maintenance and treatment may rise Jan. 1, unless more people tap onto the system. He said 3,700 people need to be tapped on by Jan. 1 to support the cost of operating the sewer district.

The special sewer committee's new chairman, Morris Miles of Chouteau Township, accused Smith of "blowing smoke" and trying to use scare tactics to force people to tap onto the system. He said he hopes more people will tap on soon, but said he will oppose any attempt to raise the treatment and sewer maintenance fee above the $15 per month now being charged.

36 Scouts to Jamboree

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

Thirty-six Boy Scouts from the Cahokia Mound Council left from Collinsville Friday morning for the 10th annual Boy Scouts of America National Jamboree, which opens today at Fort A. P. Hill, Va.

From today through Aug. 4, more than 30,000 Boy Scouts and adult leaders are gathered from every part of the country and much of the world to pitch their tents and engage in the fun and adventure of scouting activities.

Fort Hill is on the beautiful Piedmont near historic Fredericksburg, and is less than 100 miles from Williamsburg, Yorktown, Richmond and Norfolk, Va. and close to our nation's capital.

Charles A. Shane Jr., 2117 Hamilton Drive, is the senior patrol leader of Jamboree Troop No. 383, the official designation for the local Scouts attending. Shane also will be taking photographs for the Press-Record of the national event.

When 30,000 Boy Scouts gather in one area, it becomes local, national and international news.

As a special correspondent for the Press-Record, Scout Brian Forbes, 12, of Troop 5, will be sending in regular news reports. Brian is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Forbes, 2423 Waterman Ave.

When asked why he became a boy scout, Brian said, "I thought it would be fun and I like to go camping, canoeing and take trips." When school starts Brian will be a seventh grader at Grigsby Junior High.

To add international flavor to this jamboree, each of 110 countries are sending a patrol of eight scouts and an adult leader to join the activity.

One of the major "off duty" activities is trading uniforms and various scout emblems and much of the world from other countries and the other 48 states.

There are activities going on day and night, such as archery, canoeing, a merit badge midway, plus to many to list.

The Scouts are cooking their own meals and sleeping in tents.

Chief Scout Executive J. L. Tarr described a jamboree as the Super Bowl, World Series, Fourth of July and Mardi Gras all rolled into one.

Leaders of Jamboree Troop 383 are LeRoy J. Stark, scoutmaster, and Jack P. Taylor, assistant scoutmaster.

Other assistant scoutmasters are Randy B. Lawrence of Edwardsville and Gerald L. Tanner of Collinsville.

The Jamboree planning committee for the local Scouts are: Jean Grimaud, chairman, Henry Hellick, Jim Johns, Less Becker, LeRoy Stark, with Mark Brayer district scout executive acting as advisor to the committee.

BRIAN FORBES, 12, who is attending the Boy Scout Jamboree in Fort A. P. Hill, Va., and will be serving as a special correspondent for the Press-Record on the activities. Approximately 30,000 scouts are involved in the massive jamboree. (Press-Record Photo)

Two capture state baton championships

Two Granite City youths captured honors at the Illinois State Champion Baton contest held earlier this month at the John Hersey High School in Arlington Heights, Ill.

Ray Yount, 17-year old senior student at North High School, won the Senior Boys Illinois State Solo Championship and will leave for Notre Dame University in South Bend, Ind., to compete in the National Championship set for Aug. 2.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray (Sharold) Yount, 2351 Morrison Road, he also took first place in the boys open solo.

Melissa Simpson, 6-year old contestant, won the Beginner 0-6 solo championship making her the Illinois State Champion in that specific category.

She also won first in modeling, received second awards in Fancy Strut, Basic March and Military March and a fourth in the Advance 0-6 age division solo championship.

The youngster is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry (Danna) Simpson, 4656 Warnock Ave. She attends Maryville School and is now eligible to compete in the National Championship scheduled for May in Orlando, Fla.

Other local baton twirlers who participated in the event were Julie Jasudowicz, 10-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Shirley) Jasudowicz, 4644 Route One, Granite City.

She is a student at Johnson School and she won a first place trophy in costume contests and a second place in two baton state solos.

Patty Ryan received a first place trophy in costume modeling. The 12-year old contestant is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ryan, Rural Route One, Granite City.

Man shot in fight

Jerry Belford, 27, of 114 Gareness Homes, Madison, suffered bullet wounds to both thighs and cuts to his head and nose during a disturbance in front of the El Capatzen Lounge, Second and Jackson streets in Madison, at 2:20 a.m. Saturday.

Belford said he and Ariondas Bell were drinking in front of the lounge when three black men emerged from the lounge and one pushed Bell out of the way. An argument ensued and continued as the group crossed the street.

One of the three men then displayed a pistol and struck Belford about the face and head before Belford ran away. As he ran, he was shot, the bullet passing through both his right and left thighs.

The three men then got into a green four-door Buick and left the scene. Witnesses got the license plate of the car, which came back to an owner in Champaign, Ill. One of the men had told a customer in the bar that they were from Chicago.

Authorities there were notified of the incident and said that family members of the car's owner have police records in that city.

Belford described the man who shot him as dark skinned, about 6 feet, 2 inches tall, weighing about 185 pounds and wearing pink pants, a flowered shirt and gray shoes.

CAR TAKEN FROM LOT

The white 1980 Toyota two-door hatchback car of James Schaefer, Alton, was stolen early Thursday from the Charlie's Restaurant parking lot.

2 robbed on bus

Two young Granite City men were robbed early Sunday in St. Louis and the robbers accompanied their victims on a Bi-State bus into Madison, where they escaped.

Jim Klaus, 17, of 2013 Cottage Ave., and Kevin Shearlock, 2541 Cleveland Blvd., said they were waiting for a bus at the intersection of Washington in St. Louis when three black men approached and one displayed a nickel-plated revolver and demanded their money.

They gave the robbers $4 and when a bus arrived, Klaus and Shearlock boarded it. The robbers also boarded the bus and sat near Klaus and Shearlock as the bus crossed McKinley Bridge into Venice.

On the Broadway viaduct, the robber with the gun then demanded the jewelry Klaus and Shearlock were wearing. The victims gave them a digital watch and a class ring from the Granite City High School class of 1982.

The robbers then got off the bus at Seventh Street and Madison Avenue and fled. Klaus and Shearlock told the bus driver that they had just been robbed and police were notified. A search of the area failed to locate any suspects, officers said.

BREAK INTO HOME
Michelle Brake, 2580 Revere's Road, told Granite City police that someone had broken into her home between 1:30 and 4 p.m. Saturday, but nothing is known missing. She said it appears that someone entered an unlocked garage door and then broke the door from the garage into the house, breaking the door facing and the inside door handle off.

acknowledgment that there is an acute space problem.

"An earnest attempt to study and determine the space needs of all the county offices" is being made in the form of a space analysis study, Smith said, adding that Portell was aware of the study when he filed the suit.

The dismissal motion will be referred to the trial judge once one has been appointed.

Daniel J. Stack of Highland has been appointed as a special assistant state's attorney to represent Portell, indicating that the county will be obligated to pay his costs. Smith opposes this, commenting that "we won't pay the guy. We'll go to jail first."

An inspection of the courthouse by the state fire marshal's office July 17 bore out contentions made in the lawsuit, Portell is convinced.

The building was visited by Anthony Candela, assistant state marshal, and Edwardville Fire Captain Jerry Wade. They found 13 state code violations, and recommended installation of sprinklers, an alarm system, emergency lights and additional fire exits. They proposed fire-resistant doors for offices that open into corridors, and recommended enclosure of the two courthouse stairwells. No cost estimate was given.

The county has awarded a $75,000 contract to alter its office building, a former bank structure located across the street from the courthouse. It also has conducted a fire safety survey of the county nursing home.

Contractor Charles Bode said priority will be given to improving the nursing home, and that five years can be taken to work on the courthouse if gradual steps are taken to comply with fire code requirements.

Portell believes action should be taken now, commenting that workers could be tripped by basement clerical offices that have limited access to the outdoors.

The clerical staff operates traffic, family probate child support, child records, small claims court and criminal court divisions at Edwardville as well as court offices in Granite City, Collinsville, Alton, Wood River and East Alton.

and $476,926 from federal revenue sharing.

Even with a 10 to 20 percent budget cut for every city department, the budget still remains about $340,000 over the available income. On top of that, the up to $1.2 million the city is borrowing until new taxes arrive, plus interest, will have to be repaid "off the top," before new tax funds can be applied to the city's needs.

Bowler estimated that with repayment of the loans, with the salary increases the court gave the employees and with the budgets now under consideration, the city will need nearly $9 million this fiscal year to stay in the black, or nearly $2 million more than the projected income.

He said, however, that he remains opposed to utility taxes, "which would be a burden to every homeowner, every small business and would drive away industry."

Schuler told the Press-Record Friday that he now plans to suggest a one percent tax on electricity, which would raise about $353,026 per year, and is raising "the idea" of a five percent tax on telephone bills, which would raise approximately $224,731, according to figures supplied by the utilities.

"We would leave natural gas alone, which is the big bug-a-bye of Granite City Steel and possibly American Steel, and probably leave water alone, which is a very small amount," the mayor said.

Illinois-American Water Co. bills customers in the city approximately $2,350,000 a year, so a one percent tax would raise only about $23,500 a year, the mayor noted.

He said how much tax will be imposed and which utilities will be taxed should be determined after the city finalizes its budget. "When we decide how to pay back our loans and how many dollars we need to support the budget, then we will go back and apply the figures provided by the utilities to determine how that money can be raised," Schuler told the Press-Record.

He said he understands the reluctance of the aldermen to support a utility tax, but said he believes it is necessary at this time and the council will agree to it.

"We have six new aldermen and four or five only there two years. They just don't know where they are. When I came onto the council, I had the old timers to help me out," the mayor noted.

The council will meet at 7 tonight in the township hall, 2060 Delmar Ave., to further discuss the budget, which must, by law, be passed and published in the Press-Record by Thursday, which will be the last issue in July.

The public is welcome at all council meetings and the meeting room is accessible to the handicapped.

Town police will be in radio contact with the sheriff's department and with other deputies' squad cars in the area.

A similar force of 12 officers is in operation in Wood River Township and the results have been good, the sheriff said.

He noted that innovative approaches, such as this, are needed in order to maintain the level of service the people need. "I have lost 11 men and I am going to lose a lot more if I don't do it."

"I have a study underway preparing our next budget. I am going to ask the county board for 10 more deputies, but I don't think I'll get them."

He said he is having difficulty finding enough employees to man the giant new county jail and will have to pull the sheriff's department representative out of the Metropolitan Sheriff's Department. St. Clair County has 25,000 less than that in the unincorporated areas. We are the largest county in Southern Illinois outside of the Chicago area. The number of persons served by the sheriff's department," Toffant concluded.

Toffant said few people realize the scope of the task facing the sheriff's department. He said that Madison County is the fifth largest county in the state in the number of persons in unincorporated areas protected. "Ninety thousand people depend on the Madison County Sheriff's Department. St. Clair County has 25,000 less than that in the unincorporated areas. We are the largest county in Southern Illinois outside of the Chicago area. The number of persons served by the sheriff's department," Toffant concluded.

Mental Health Services picks officers

At the last board meeting, four members were appointed as officers of the board of directors for Mental Health Services, Southern Madison County, Inc. Appointed were Evelyn Leeper, president; John Rush, vice-president; Sandra Kolo, secretary, and Harley Davis, treasurer. Also approved was a $1 million budget for fiscal year 1982. The entire budget is a 13 percent increase from last year. Included in the package were personnel expenses, which total 80 percent of the budget.

Direct program costs include community counseling services for the Quad Cities, which amounts to 38 percent of the costs and provides a wide range of mental health counseling services, including community education and consultation, mental health crisis intervention for individuals, family members, marital couples, and groups seeking to deal more effectively with their problems. Community support services has two separate programs. The Adult Development Center (ADC), which amounts to 26 percent of direct program costs, and the Community Support Project (CSP) which totals 12 percent.

The Adult Development Center offers consumers an intensive therapeutic environment, coupled with individual and group therapy, socialization, towards maintenance and growth.

Community Support Project provides housing to individuals who have a history of hospitalization for psychiatric treatment. An emphasis is placed on residents developing life skills, self-care skills and interpersonal skills. The funding for Mental Health Services, Southern Madison County, Inc., comes from the Illinois Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities, which contributes 64 percent of the funding to the agency; Madison County Health Board (708) 26 percent, and fees, which total 10 percent of agency support.

Mental Health Services is a private, not-for-profit organization that serves all residents in the southern half of Madison County. Services at the Mental Health Clinic also include work, adjustment training and community outreach, with satellite services at 508 Broadway in Highland, and 115 South Main Street in Edwardsville.

Reminder on cooling energy financial aid

State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, is reminding the public that Madison County residents with certain medical conditions who need assistance in paying their cooling energy bills may contact the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission, 3034 Godfrey Road, P.O. Box 306, Godfrey 62035, telephone 462-1157. The program is administered statewide by the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

"One-time individual household assistance payments may range from $70 to $100," Vadalabene said, "and are based on income and geographic location." "We are placing special emphasis on assistance to the elderly and the handicapped with medical conditions such as heart disease, stroke, skin disease, diabetes, heat exhaustion and other conditions which can be ameliorated by cooling facilities," he added,

"since these groups are frequently the hardest hit with high energy and medical bills." "I urge all senior citizens, handicapped individuals and others who think they may qualify for assistance to contact the POC as soon as possible or call the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs energy hotline at 1-800-252-8643 for information."

Another chapter in the history of Wortman house

By KARL L. MONROE

Add one more chapter to the much-publicized history of the famous "Buster" Wortman "house with a moat" near Collinsville. Sunday, Pan American Energy Inc., a division of Resource Royalties Inc., and Dave Croft Chrysler-Dodge Festival at the site.

Dave Croft has sold the place, which he acquired last year from "Bo" Beuckman, another Collinsville auto dealer, to Pan American Energy Inc.

P.A.E., which has offices at 411 Mansion House Center, plans to use the property as its laboratory and pilot model of its energy

The company plans to build its first Solaria Power Station—it hopes by Oct. 1—to provide all the electrical, heating, cooling and water requirements of the site.

It will be a miniature of a station under development in the Midwest, C. Wallace McPherson, P.A.E. president, said.

McPherson said some patents are pending, so he did not attempt to give complete engineering details. Over-simplified, the system consists of two ponds which create electrical energy, heating and cooling

The hot pond, he said, would go up to 240 degrees. The cold pond would go down to minus-40. Wind power would cool the cold pond. No heat exchangers would be involved.

McPherson said for this project, 25 percent salt brine from Salt Lake, Utah, would be shipped in, to be inserted in the pond to make it about 3 1/2 percent salt, as in the ocean.

The idea of the P.A.E. process is to desalinate the salt water and create electricity for heating and cooling at the same time. Initially, only the house will be served by the project. Subdivision neighbors may subsequently be offered electricity and fresh water from the system, he said.

The 14-room house, built with foot-thick concrete walls, uses about 4,000 gallons of oil in a moderately severe winter, McPherson said. An inexpensive alternative energy source would obviously be welcome.

The house has had a tremendous amount of press coverage over the years. It is backed by a 12-acre lake planned by a previous owner, Walter Schiller, and completed by Wortman who built the house in 1958.

Wortman heirs sold the house to "Bo" Beuckman in 1971. He spent a considerable sum making it more livable but sold it to Croft last year after neighbors blocked an attempt to sell it to Illinois Children's Home and Aid as a home for girls. It still resembles a school or other institutional building, with its flat roof and concrete walls, as Croft freely admits.

P.A.E.'s parent company, Resource Royalties Inc., formerly headquartered in Salt Lake City, is a publicly-held company whose stock is traded on the over-the-counter market. It was recently reorganized in a stockholders meeting in Denver.

Richard Owen Laughlin, a St. Louisan, entered into an agreement to take over control of Resource Royalties. The new board of directors consists of Laughlin; McPherson; Peter B. Scott, a Denver attorney; and Robert R. Sandcock, a Clayton attorney.

McPherson said that Laughlin owns a large farm that "buts up" to Scott Air Force Base. On it he has tapped salt water at $5 feet.

Rainy weather hampers vines in area gardens

By CHRIS DOLL

Area Garden Adviser Dying vines in muskmelons and cucumbers are most likely caused by bacterial wilt.

This disease causes sudden wilting and rapid death of plants. The other possible cause is fusarium wilt, which has similar symptoms but doesn't infect resistant varieties.

Gummy stem blight is another wilt disease that might be present on old melon soils, and insects can also cause vines to wilt or die.

Bacterial wilt is spread by the small yellow and black striped or spotted cucumber beetles when they feed on the plant. Witing occurs a week or two later.

This means that the insect vector can be "long gone" when symptoms are seen. There is no recovery of wilted vines, so control is through preventing spread by the beetles.

Use carbaryl or malathion at five-day intervals during the growing season. Spraying or dusting should be done in the evening to prevent killing of pollinating insects.

Fusarium wilt is best prevented by planting resistant varieties such as Goldstar, Harper Hybrid, Harvest Queen, Supermarket and others that might be sold locally. As with bacterial wilt, there is no cure—only prevention.

Insect problems are the most common on summer squash this year. The culprit is the squash vine borer, a large worm that eats out the stem or crown of the plant.

As with bacterial wilt, when the wilt is seen, there is no cure for the infected plant. Prevention would be to spray or dust the base of the plant at weekly intervals.

The recent spell of hot, humid weather with rainfall permitted leaf diseases such as downy mildew and alternaria leaf spot to develop.

Leaves can be protected by weekly sprays of zineb or maneb, with the addition of a fixed copper for the powdery mildew.

Healthy foliage and vines are necessary for top quality and flavor in vine crops. Keeping them in this condition sometimes means using good cultural practices and some of the control methods listed above.

How to save money on your grocery bills

Here are some important shopping tips

- 1—Check specials in food store advertisements.
- 2—Get to know the butcher and produce manager.
- 3—Find out when deliveries of perishables are made and shop on those days. Fresher foods last longer and consequently, you'll waste less.
- 4—Learn to estimate accurately the amounts of food needed. Keep a record of the amount of food you throw away in a week. It may alert you to ways you can reduce waste.
- 5—For economy and variety, use eggs, dry beans, and peanut butter in place of meat some of the time. These foods provide protein and most other nutrients that meat supplies.
- 6—Use nonfat dry milk, which is less expensive than fluid milk, at least part of the time in cooking and as a beverage.
- 7—By law, economy sizes of non-food items must save you at least 5% over other sizes of the same brand.
- 8—Try to shop as seldom as possible, preferably once a week.
- 9—Always shop with a well thought out shopping list. Try to base your list of foods on your menu for the week.
- 10—Take advantage of the special coupon offers going on at First Granite City Savings in conjunction with your local Schnuck's grocer.

Alton nips Trips in Sunday thriller

By TERRY MACKIN of the Press-Record
ALTON — The game was down to one final out, as Alton third baseman Darin Jones stepped to the plate. Tri-City righthander Steve Doty, drenched from the humidity, worked from the stretch, as he tried to keep the runner as close to second base as possible. Within seconds, the game was over, as Jones poked a fastball up the middle to score Pat Morrissey from second base. But the real and part is that one team had to walk off of the field with heads hung low after both teams played with more desire and hustle than some teams perform in an entire season. But according to Triplet Manager Eldon Warfield, the game "was our if we wanted it."

"We had the opportunity to win and didn't. We certainly have nothing to be ashamed about," And everybody that witnessed the contest could not disagree with the young manager's statement. Alton jumped to an early lead in the first inning thanks to some early control problems of Triplet starter Doty. After walking Pat Morrissey and Rusty Meyers to start the game, the duo then stole second and third. Shortstop Ross Brakeville then grounded out to Doty, but Morrissey raced home for the first run of the contest. Scott Johns then reached first on a catchers interference call on Daren DeFew to put runners on first and second. Darin Jones then singled up the middle to score Meyers and give Alton a 2-0 lead.

The Triplets came back with a single-run in their second inning. Rick Daily started the inning with a sharp single to right, and advanced to second on a wild throw by Alton starter Gordon Green. John Vrenick, still limping on a bad foot, then blooped a single to left field to tie the game. Daily then shortened the Alton lead to one run, 2-1. But Alton came right back with a run in the third to tie again. Jones singled up the middle. As the third baseman led off first, Doty fired a pickoff throw high over the head of first baseman George Jarvis, allowing Jones to score in the third. Then it looked as if Doty redeemed himself when Doug Orben tricked a roller to the mound for what appeared to be an easy third out, but Doty once again made a bad throw to first and Jones trotted home. Alton led 3-1. But once again, Ford got things started for the Triplets in their fourth inning when he led off with a sharp single to right field and went to second on a passed ball. Daily then ripped a fastball to left for a single to put runners on first and third. Then DeFew bounced a bunt that landed on the chalk line and Ford reached home. But the Triplets pushed their luck a little too far when Vrenick attempted a bunt, which Alton promptly turned into an inning ending double play.

From then on, it was the matching fastballs to Doty and Green. Both pitchers finally settled down and kept the bats quiet until the sixth inning when Tri-City's Daily literally hustled home for a game-tying Triplet run.

Daily singled, then stole second and went to third when the Alton catcher couldn't find the ball. He then punted when the catcher, Kent Schelle, threw the ball into left field.

"Daily has been something else for us this year," said Warfield. "Everytime we have asked him to change positions, he has and did it well. He has picked us up a few items this year. I'm glad he's on my side." And so was Doty who suddenly saw the game going into his favor after struggling through the first few innings. But not for long. After a scoreless seventh inning for Tri-City, Doty climbed the mound, hoping to continue his scoreless streak of three innings. But just like the game started, Morrissey led off the inning with a walk, and stole second. Doty then struck out Meyers, and made Brakeville fly out to short left field. Up to the plate came Jones and the fans on both sides got nervous. It was silent.

Then with one swat of the bat, the game was over. Jones singled up the middle to score Morrissey and Alton the victory, 4-3. Green went the distance for Alton to gain the victory. Doty was the hard-luck loser for Tri-City.

And although he was not upset, Warfield couldn't help but look to what the defeat meant to the Triplets chances.

"If we win this game, we're in the drivers seat. Now we have to beat them twice, and either Edwardsville again or Bethalto.

DOWN AND OUT. Tri-City third baseman John Vrenick is tagged out at home by Edwardsville catcher Phil Comereaux Saturday night in Edwardsville after trying to score from first on a hit by teammate George Jarvis. As things turned out, the Triplets didn't need the run. They defeated Edwardsville 6-3 in the first round of post-season playoffs. Yesterday, the Triplets lost a 4-3 heartbreaker to Alton. They will face Bethalto tonight (weather permitting) at home in the loser's bracket at 7:30.

Wolfgang wins T-C race

By JEFF EAVES For the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The World of Outlaw point leader Doug Wolfgang of Sioux Falls, S.D., overhauled Dean Shirley of Middletown, Ill., on lap 3 and held on to some heavy pressure to win the 90-lap WO winged sprint car feature over the half mile clay track yesterday at the Tri-City Speedway before a huge crowd.

Pressing Wolfgang for the top spot were Kenny Schrader of Fenton, Mo., and Danny Smith of Hendersonville, Tenn. The trio raced for several laps before each other until lap 12, Smith passed Wolfgang for the lead, but on the same lap Keith Frantzen of Windom, Minn., spun his car in turn 4 and that then made Wolfgang to regain the lead from Smith. On the restart of Wolfgang used the lower groove around the very dry and slick to keep his point lead.

At the finish of the race Wolfgang was the winner over Smith, Schrader, Ron Shuman of Mesa, Ariz., John Stevenson of St. Paul, Minn., Dean Shirley, Bobby Marshall of Dallas, Texas, Jeff Swindell of Memphis, Tenn., Chuck Amati of Freeman Spur, Ill., and Sonny Smyser of Lancaster, Mo.

Pat McKeelhan of Windsor, Mo., won the first heat over Randy Standridge of Springfield, Ill., Scott Woyant of Springfield and Sammy Swindell of Bartlett, Tenn. Jeff Swindell won the second heat over Bill Baker of Mexico, Mo., Kenny Schrader and Keith Frantzen. Doug Wolfgang won the third heat over Bobby Marshall, Danny Smith and Eddie Leavitt of Kearney, Mo.

Localand McSpadden of Tempe, Ariz., won the fourth heat over Todd Bishop of Harrisburg, Ill., Cliff Blundy of Metamora, Ill., and John Stevenson.

In the 12-lap semi-feature

Ron Shuman of Mesa, Ariz., was the winner over Dean Shirley, Ron Milton of Jacksonville, Ill., and Shane Carson of Oklahoma City, Okla.

The weekly racing will continue at the speedway this coming Saturday night, Aug. 1, with the limited late model stock cars and the street stocks performing over the quarter mile and the half mile tracks. Racing will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Paddlers romp to SWISA championship

GRANITE CITY — Paddlers diving team continued its winning ways Saturday as they won the SWISA diving championship at their own pool.

Paddlers won the title with 35 points, with Dorchester of Belleville and Gaslight of Collinsville tying for second with 28 points each. Mon-Clair of Edwardsville was a close third with 27 points, followed by Summers-Port with 23, the St. Louis Eagles with 22 and Sunset Hills of Edwardsville with 13.

In the boys 10 and under division, Scott Freebeyer of Eagles won first place honors with a total of 79.25 points. In the girls age 9-10 division, Amy Balettie won honors with a total of 100.10 points.

In the boys age 11-12 division, Brian Shepard won first place honors with a total of 126.35 points. But then it was Paddlers turn, mainly the Doneff family. In the girls age 11-12 division, Christine Doneff won first place honors over Dorchester's Jill Halpin with a score of 133.95 total points.

Halpin finished with 131.20. And in the boys age 13-14, Mark Doneff easily outdistanced his closest follower with a total of 149.05 points to gain the SWISA championship.

Other winners were: Amy Halpin of Dorchester in the girls 13-14 division; Steve Price of Mon-Clair in the boys 15-18 division; and Beth O'Brien of Summers-Port in the girls 15-18 division. The victory left the Paddlers of Granite City undefeated on the season.

Patterson leads to victory

By TERRY MACKIN of the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — The consistent gloomy skies and wet grounds have put many area baseball players in a state of depression. But not Tri-City's Keith Burton.

Thanks to Mother Nature, Burton was allowed an extra day's rest after Friday night's game against Edwardsville was rained out. So on Saturday, Burton proved his gratitude as he pitched the Triplets past Edwardsville, 6-3, in the District 22 playoffs.

Burton pitched a strong last week, in addition to facing five batters in the Illinois-Missouri All-Star game at Heine-Mene Field in St. Louis. So, it would not have been surprising if he were down early in the humid afternoon heat. But Burton rose to the occasion. "Keith did another fine job for us," said Manager Eldon Warfield. "Going into the season, I didn't really know what to expect out of him, but he has really proved himself."

And Burton was not the only Triplet to enjoy a satisfying afternoon in Edwardsville. Shortstop Danny Patterson collected three hits, including a towering home-run in the first inning and a triple. John Linhart and Rick Dail had two hits apiece, and George Jarvis had a clutch, run-scoring double in the second inning. And, though the Triplets did not enjoy one big inning, they did pick away, inning by inning, to gain the victory.

Patterson started things rolling for Tri-City in the first inning when he smashed a Reed Heilman curve ball over the left field fence. Edwardsville left-fielder Greg Steiner made no effort for the ball, as he just joined the fans in awe as the ball sailed well over the 385 mark.

"It was funny," Warfield said, "I saw Danny digging in, and I just had a feeling he was going to tag one of those curve balls. Next thing I know, it's gone."

The Triplets led 1-0. In the second inning, Daily and Daren DeFew led off with sharp singles. John Vrenick, appearing for the first time in weeks because of a nagging foot injury, then faked a bunt and Daily was caught leaning at second on a perfect throw by (Continued on Page 9)

Training camp offers different sounds

By PETE HAYES Sports Editor

ST. CHARLES — It was hot. It was muggy. What has become known as the daily downpour had just lessened.

The barking of signals by quarterbacks and hopeful quarterbacks. The pop of plastic against plastic as shoulder pads banged into shoulder pads. The grunts. The moans. The chugging down of Gator-Ade. The cursing under the breath when a pass went wide.

It was so humid you could hear the players sweating. Not prepping. Ladies prepping.

Football players sweat. No doubt about it. Training camp had started.

The St. Louis Football Cardinals' annual pre-season training camp had started at Lindenwood College in St. Charles. And last week, before most of the veterans reported, it was time for the free agents and the rookies to try and show their stuff for the Big Red coaching staff and management.

Notably absent was the Cardinals' number one draft choice, linebacker E.J. Junior, the All-America from Alabama. But there was plenty of action. And sounds.

Even though it was just a typical morning session and the big names weren't even in camp yet, the autograph hounds were out in force. There's no mistaking an autograph hound. They're usually dressed in soccer shorts, dirty Nike sneakers, a St. Louis Cardinals T-shirt (or Dallas Cowboys T-shirt).

St. Louis is full of fair-weather fans. And a baseball cap. Don't forget the baseball cap. Usually an Oakland A's baseball cap.

Oh yeah, the typical autograph hound is male, about 11 years old. Although there were some female infiltrators in the ranks this particular day.

The cry rang out every time a weary player would stagger over to the Gator Ade table. "Hey number 42! Hey number 42! How 'bout an autograph?"

Or, "Hey you! Are YOU anybody? If you are, how 'bout an autograph?"

The center of attraction this particular day was for complete coverage in the P-R's annual Football-Soccer Preview later next month and for coverage of the Big Red during the regular season.

quarterback Neil Lomax, the Cardinals' number two draft choice out of Portland State and the heir-apparent to the Big Red's longtime star Jim Hart. A typical autograph signing with Lomax went like this: "Hey number 151! Ya wanna sign my program?"

Lomax would oblige. Then, running back to his pack of autograph-seeking cronies, "Hey, I got Lomax! I got Lomax!"

The rest of the autograph hounds would immediately engulf the rookie quarterback.

Another quarterback hopeful for the Cardinals is second-year signal-caller Rusty Lisch out of Notre Dame and Belleville West High School. Last season, he impressed more than any other backup quarterback when sent in for Hart. "Hey you! You wanna sign an autograph?"

NEW YORK - The United States Soccer Federation announced today that it will host the CONCACAF Northern Zone Youth Tournament, a four-nation event to be staged Sept. 1-6 in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

This competition is designed to help prepare the U.S.
 National Youth Team for October's FIFA World Youth Championship in Australia.

Competing in the tournament will be the nations that comprise CONCACAF's
 Northern Zone - Bermuda,
 Canada, Mexico and the United States. CONCACAF, one of six regional governing bodies of FIFA, the world governing body, also includes the countries of Central America and the Caribbean.

The Northern Zone Youth
 Tournament, a round-robin event to be held at the United States Air Force Academy and Colorado College, will feature two national youth teams (players born after Aug. 1, 1961) - Mexico and the U.S. - that will participate in the 16-nation
 FIFA World Youth Cham-

soccer

ampionship, to take place Oct. 3-18 in six Australian cities.
 In announcing the upcoming competition, USSF
 President Gene Edwards said: "The CONCACAF
 Northern Zone Tournament will serve as a valuable tuneup for our Youth Team for Australia. The Youth Team has participated in tournaments in Brazil,
 Switzerland and Mexico, showing steady improvement in each competition. With our Northern Zone neighbors joining us in competition this time around, we of the Federation are confident the benefits of this training program will be evident
 when it counts most in Australia."

The U.S. has previously engaged in Brazil's Machado
 Cup tournament in January,
 Switzerland's Bellinzona
 Youth Tournament in April and Mexico's Havelange
 Youth Tournament in June.
 The National Youth Team
 yesterday concluded a series of matches against regional select teams in Syracuse,
 N.Y., prior to the U.S.O.C.
 National Sports Festival III,
 July 23-29.

Mexico and the U.S.
 qualified for the FIFA World Youth Championship by virtue of a one-two finish in last summer's 16-nation
 CONCACAF Youth Championship, which was hosted by the USSF at six regional sites.

New soccer league

ST. LOUIS — The Missouri Senior Soccer League now forming will accept entries for men's and women's senior division play beginning this fall at a meeting Wednesday, July 29, at the Anheuser-Busch Bevo Plant (second floor) at 610 Peitzelwood Street.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 to 9 p.m., and all interested players, coaches and managers are invited to attend and/or register for men's and women's senior competition.

The Missouri Senior Soccer League will attempt to coordinate statewide competition — with divisions being established in the St. Louis, Kansas City and Columbia-Jefferson City areas — in accordance with the constitution of the Missouri Soccer Association. The establishment of this new league represents an effort to organize league play across the state, in compliance with United States Soccer Federation guidelines, which govern all competitive soccer in the United States.

For further information regarding the Missouri Senior Soccer League, or if interested but unable to attend the July 29 meeting, those interested may contact Jed Konsewicz at 314-752-2439.

Players sign

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Football Cardinals have added defensive backs Gary Woolford and Willie Underwood to their training camp roster, it was announced by Larry Wilson, Director of Pro Personnel.

Woolford, H 6-0, 180-pound safety from Florida State, was signed to a free agent contract. He was the New York Giants' starting free safety in 8 of 12 games he played in 1980. He made 77 tackles and intercepted two passes, both in a victory over Dallas.

He was signed as a free agent by the Giants in January of 1980, and released following New York's mini-camp this spring.

Woolford was originally drafted by the Houston Oilers on the sixth round in 1977 and spent the entire season on the injured reserve list. He was released by Houston in August of 1978 and signed by San Francisco in May 1979.

Paddlers take the PLUNGE

GRANITE CITY — There were a lot of kids jumping around here Saturday.

Jumping isn't the right word, though. Most of them would shudder at the thought of JUMPING into the water. They were DIVING. From about eight years old up to 18. Boys and girls.

The annual Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association Diving Championships were held Saturday at Paddlers Pool here. And there was good news for the hometown fans. Paddlers easily won the team championship.

It was a busy Saturday. Fans and parents watching the action while squinting from underneath folded newspapers and baseball caps. Judges conferring and holding up scores after each youngster had dived. Dripping wet divers pulling themselves out of the pool and scurrying back to the diving board to wait.

To wait to take the plunge again.

Patterson

Edwardsville catcher Phil Conreux. Vreniek then walked to put runners on first and second. After Joe Schiefelsohn to center, Jarvis slashed a double to left-center, scoring DePew, but Vreniek was gunned down when he tried to hobble home. The Triplets led 2-0.

In the Triplets third, Kevin Sykes walked and moved to second on a single by Linhart. Patterson then hit a shot off the glove of Edwardsville pitcher Hellmann, and everybody was safe when he threw to third. Bob Ford then hit a deep fly ball to center, scoring Sykes, before Dally hit another shot back to the rail-thin Hellmann. The Edwardsville starter once again fired to third and everybody was safe. DePew then grounded out, but Linhart raced home to give the Triplets a 4-0 lead.

And in the meantime, Burton was sailing. After four innings, Edwardsville managed only one hit off the tall right-hander.

After scoring a solo run in their sixth inning, the Triplets had built a comfortable 5-0 lead. But just when they began to relax, Edwardsville bats woke up.

Doug Yarnik led the inning off with a walk. After Wood struck out, Steiner grounded out, with Yarnik racing to second. Back-to-back doubles by Bob McManus Conreux and a single by third baseman Rich Fletcher quickly reversed the momentum of the game, as Tri-City led only 5-3.

"It may sound strange," Warfield said, "but right before the passed ball I told Danny to be scoring on a passed ball. After he crossed the plate, he turned around and just glared at me. I guess I just got lucky."

Kevin Cripps rescued the Triplets in the seventh when he relieved Burton and shut down the Edwardsville bats, gaining the save. Burton picked up the win for Tri-City.

"The nucleus of our team is evident. The guys that really want to play baseball are the guys that keep coming through with the clutch plays and hits. If our pitching comes through, I think we have a real good chance," Warfield said.

With the victory, Tri-City will play at Alton Sunday in the double elimination tourney.

Youth Choral on Europe tour

Belleville Area College choral instructor A. Dennis Sparger is singing for more than his supper as he begins a tour of Europe. For the fourth year in a row, he was selected to conduct the Illinois Youth Choral on a two-week tour of England, France, Germany and the Netherlands.

The choral, composed of 45 high school and college singers from throughout the state, flew from Chicago to Amsterdam for its opening concert. Other concerts will be in Westminster, London, England; Heidelberg, West Germany; and Paris, France.

In addition to the concert schedule, the group will tour sites throughout Europe, including a cruise on the Rhine River. Participants will visit the graves of famous composers, including Beethoven, Schubert and Brahms.

The group, which dresses in red, white and blue costumes, will sing American sacred music, folk songs and spirituals.

"The European audiences especially love the spirituals," Sparger said. Much of the music is the same as that presented in a concert by BAC's Summer Community Chorus.

"It's important for the conductor to know the music backward and forward," Sparger said, noting that the choral's first rehearsal was scheduled for the day before the plane left.

A highlight of the tour will be a visit with former BAC student Andy Connor.

Connor, who graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and the New England Conservatory in Boston after leaving BAC, teaches near Wimbledon, England.

Choral members were chosen from students recommended by music directors throughout the state.

Red Cross swim course for handicapped ends 7th year

The families were all there with cameras clicking away. This was "Show and Tell" day for the participants in the handicapped swim program now in its seventh year. It was a happy day for all; for the participants as they demonstrated their skills and the families as they watched with pride through somewhat misty eyes.

Learning to swim is so easy, right? - wrong!! Learning to swim for the handicapped is quite a challenge but well worth the effort and effort it is! Remarkable progress has been made in the handicapped swim program. Joanne Higgins, who has taught the handicapped in the Granite City School District since 1965, has been the director of this summer program, sponsored by the local Tri-City Chapter of the Red Cross, since 1975. "swimming is a fantastic vehicle for kids in wheel chairs," Miss Higgins explained.

"They can walk when they're in the water. This opens up a freedom they don't have on land. Progress can be slow. Some students, less handicapped than others, make more progress but each step - each effort - brings them closer to achieving success and when they do, it can be one of the biggest thrills in their lives."

When asked why she has spent her summers since 1975 giving with these kids as well as the adults. They are special and no other word could be more appropriate.

The specialness begins with a remarkable absence of social inhibitions and complex devices we are so accustomed to filtering in our more sophisticated world. Special because they have the drive, the desire and perseverance to achieve."

"Although it's exhilarating and refreshing to be in the water, this is not a "play" program. Everything taught here is instructional. Blowing bubbles, making Donald Duck noises, learning to breathe under water, taking that first hesitant step into the water, all are necessary steps in gaining confidence and eventually learning to swim."

The students in the program have a variety of difficulties to overcome - deafness, cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, strokes, so that no one teaching method can be used. Each student has two volunteers whose job it is to concentrate on him or her as much as possible. To see a child or an adult who cannot walk learn to take care of themselves in the water is a thrilling sight. Sometimes patience is the key ingredient in teaching the handicapped to swim, according to Joanne Higgins, and the volunteers have unlimited amounts of this virtue.

"Words are inadequate to describe the fantastic group of volunteers. There is no way to thank them enough. They have gone the extra mile in their commitment to property and disorderly conduct."

volunteers have been in the program for five and six years, one since the inception of the program. Volunteers are from age 15 to grandmothers and students from 2 1/2 to grandfathers."

According to Joanne Higgins, "As long as we have people in our community like the Roger Bowler family who have so generously provided the pool facilities and this makes the fifth year they have done so, as long as we have the volunteers who yearly sacrifice their time and freedom in order to give to those who have less, and as long as there's a need for these very special people, we'll be there to fill the need."

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Drennan

Drennan-Williams

Miss Vicki Lynn Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Williams, 2209 Cardinal Ave., became the bride of Daniel Drennan, son of John Drennan, 2229 Edison Ave., in an afternoon ceremony on July 11 at St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church.

The Rev. Joseph Lawless officiated at the double ring service at 2 o'clock in the afternoon before an altar decorated with bouquets of yellow gladioli, blue and white daisies and greenery.

Organist Mrs. Cleta Judd played, "Because," "Romance," and "The Wedding Song," prior to the ceremony.

The bride wore a full length white organza over taffeta gown designed with a high oval neckline appliqued with lace motifs, a sheer yoke defined by a deep lace ruffle which created short cap sleeves and an empire waistline.

Her slightly full skirt and chapel train was encircled with a gathered flounce topped with delicate lace.

She wore a picture hat edged with lace appliques and trimmed with a large illusion at the back, and she held a bouquet of silk yellow roses, blue daisies, tiger lilies, lily of the valley and baby's breath, tied with yellow and white "lace streamers."

Maid of honor Miss Becky Schorffheid and bridesmaids, Misses Mary and Patty Drennan, sisters of the groom, and Miss Debbie Reichardson, selected identical formal gowns in yellow Chantilly lace over taffeta.

The ribbon strapped empire bodices featured crystal pleated jackets designed with ruffles forming slight cap sleeves over the shoulders and ruffle necklines.

Their slim A-line skirts were also pleated and encircled with deep flounces. Each attendant wore a yellow picture hat with lace covered crowns and tiny self fabric cabbage roses. They held white lace fans with silk yellow roses, blue and white daisies, and yellow jonquils attached.

Jessica Simpson, the groom's niece, and Charles Bailey, served as flower girl and ringbearer. She was dressed in a long white Chantilly lace over taffeta empire style frock featuring a ruffle at the neckline and gathered skirt terminating with a deep flounce. She also carried a white lace fan accented with clusters of yellow roses, blue and white daisies and jonquils.

Bruce Moore attended the groom as best man. Ed Baker, Steve Simpson and Steve Burns were groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Randy Owens and John Drennan.

Mrs. Williams, mother of the bride, selected a beige silk dress with split capelet sleeves, V-design sheer lace yoke and lace collar. Her corsage was of silk yellow Sweetheart roses.

Miss Andrea Crisler, a cousin of the bride, attended the guest book at a reception held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Belleville.

The groom's father entertained members of the wedding party at a rehearsal dinner.

Both young people graduated from South High School. The former Miss Williams also graduated from Belleville Area College and is employed as a certified surgical technologist.

The groom works at Granite City Steel and is a member of the Order of Elks. They are residing in Caseyville, following a wedding trip to the Ozarks.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Nancy Drenzyk of New York, an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Joyce Meyers, Batchesman, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Thornhill, Moscow Mills, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Lochner of Houston, Texas.

Budget deadline has arrived; city has obligation to not allow basic governmental services to deteriorate

It is somewhat difficult to comment on Granite City municipal finances these days, because the situation seems to be changing so rapidly and so drastically. But we will venture a few thoughts today because the 1981-82 fiscal year budget soon will be history. City Council sessions are set for tonight and Tuesday night, and publication of the budget is scheduled for Thursday.

Advice by us or anyone else is voiced from an imperfect vantage point because we are not directly in the governmental, political "kitchen."

But, as the late President Truman might have indicated, the mayor and aldermen have the appropriate perspective (the simultaneous obligations to provide adequate services and to limit costs to a reasonable level); they have the responsibility (the "buck," as in buck-passing, stops on their desks; and they have the duty (their pay compensates them for taking the "heat," or they can choose to leave that high-temperature, high-anxiety kitchen.

They also have the authority to balance the city budget, through their tax and lawmaking powers. And they have the collective information, knowledge and wisdom required in order for them to achieve such a balance.

Circumstances demand that they also exhibit the courage to do what must be done.

A few points should be made, although they do not in themselves contain the answers that must be found this week.

—Yes, earlier attention might have eased the present pain. The imbalance has been building up over a period of time. But even high-paid congressmen made a similar mistake in adding on Social Security benefits at a faster rate than they increased the Social Security revenue base. (A lower birthrate and monetary inflation compounded the problem, and these same factors have contributed to the financial headaches of states and local-level governmental agencies.)

Lyndon Johnson still is regarded by historians as one of the most effective U.S. presidents during the early years of his tenure in that office. But he lost his gamble that American could afford both "guns and the Vietnam war" and "butter" (proliferating social services). The nation has been footing the bill for that mistake ever since.

—Yes, federal grants were used for personnel as well as for capital expenditures like buildings and equipment. Now that cities' federal and sources are drying up, it becomes even more difficult than in the past for municipalities to maintain basic services.

New York and Cleveland are among the leading examples of the financial squeeze that has developed. Granite City is not in their category but its current problem is real and not easily resolved.

Payroll inevitably consumes the lion's share of a city's funds, regardless of where that revenue was derived. So, at least some of the "no-tax" dilemma was unavoidable—unless citizens could have been convinced that a number of services they willingly accepted in recent years should not have been provided for them.

What is a necessity and what is a luxury? The definitions tend to change as the years pass and as new generations establish homes and families.

We continue to believe that city fathers cannot properly "treat all departments alike" in trimming spending to match income. The departments are not alike, and there is nothing fair about such an "impartial" approach to them.

Emergency services are more important than those services which in some ways are cosmetic in nature.

We would rather not see high weeds, but they are more acceptable to us than would be an unavailability of ambulance when a loved one is ill or injured.

—Yes, some "fat" probably exists in the city government—waste motion, or overmanning, or needless work, or malingering or laziness.

As the Reagan administration has found in Washington, the degree of such wastefulness may sometimes be exaggerated in taxpayers' minds.

In any case, there is no simple formula for finding and eradicating it. And the eradication, by itself, would not be enough to achieve fiscal soundness.

—Yes, borrowing to meet operating costs is hard to defend. Certainly, on a long-range basis it offers no solution; every dollar must be repaid, plus the burden of interest costs.

The city has borrowed $300,000 and has authorized another $900,000 in tax anticipation warrants. The latter must be repaid once new property taxes have been received this summer or fall.

Part of the problem is the increasingly late assessing-taxing cycle. A new state law may help speed the whole process in 1982, but will not apply to tax determination and collection in 1981.

—Yes, there are two sides to the coin of "tax relief," Senate Bill 1790, for example. Such exemptions help property owners withstand the impact of inflation on the taxable value of their homes.

But such assessment curbs have made serious inroads on the property base that once was the chief financial support for local governmental needs and services.

—Yes, it would be nice to "have your cake and eat it, too."

But similar "tax relief," such as voting lower rate limits for certain governmental bodies, can backfire in terms of actual savings.

If a fire department is reduced in manpower and facilities, higher insurance costs may result. If police work and other vital services are hampered, costly claims and court judgments could be encountered.

All of this having been said, there is no exact guideline to lead the municipality onward and upward to fiscal stability.

If prosperity was more evident here and throughout the nation, goals might be easier to reach for both those who pay taxes and those who expend them.

But even in the absence of more favorable economic and employment conditions, a few truths still are pertinent:

1. The continued financial viability of local individuals and families deserves full consideration as does the well-being of small businesses and of the manufacturing plants so essential to the local job base.

2. The interests of dedicated city employees must be considered. As the Third Circuit Court ruled on a temporary basis Thursday afternoon, there is an obligation to honor the terms of duly-enacted agreements on pay and working conditions.

3. And the health and welfare of those who live, work and transact business here must not be withdrawn or curtailed.

Our feeling is that some employee cutbacks are essential, but that the heavy blows to emergency staffs were inappropriate.

At latest count, the payroll has shrunk by 35 full-time employees through layoffs, retirements and disability.

One tally lists nine fewer in the fire department, eight in the police department, seven in the street department, five in the sewage treatment plant staff, three in the inspection department, two in the air pollution control department, and one in the technicians.

Still more layoffs have been forecast by city officials, now that the court has prevented wages from being rolled back to the level of April 30, the final day of the 1980-81 year.

Rather than advancing any farther down this path, the city instead must bolster its revenue.

Former Governor Ogilvie got so far along in the electorate in signing a state income tax law that he lost his attempt at re-election. We do not suggest that aldermen commit political suicide, but we suggest that taxpayers understand the necessity for some increase at this time.

Mayor Schuler is proposing a utility tax of one percent on electrical bills and five percent on telephone bills. City Council members seem less sure that this is the best approach.

The mayor correctly notes that many property owners are hard pressed to meet their own family budgets, but at least part of the budget-balancing solution probably must be found in the real estate base.

It is noteworthy that specific rates allowed by law for such programs as law enforcement and ambulance services are not being utilized, or fully utilized.

And, as a "home rule" city, Granite City does not have some of the rigid rate maximums that affect smaller cities.

The word "distasteful" received heavy use at the court hearing and has been mentioned in other discussions of the choices that face governmental leaders. Nobody genuinely wants to do anything that could be construed as harmful to anybody.

But some action must be taken. And it would be not only distasteful but disastrous—truly counterproductive and self-defeating for all taxpayers—to see fundamental community services deteriorate. Elected officials must not allow this to happen.

Programs are scheduled during registration and enrollment week Aug. 17 to 21.

More information on orientation and enrollment can be obtained by writing or phoning the KU Office of Admissions and Records toll-free 1-800-255-6322.

Lung exercise value pinpointed by researcher

Asbestos workers who quit smoking to improve their health may do more harm to their lungs than good, according to a researcher at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Stephen Hall, professor of chemistry and a certified hygienist, said results of a respiratory study on St. Louis asbestos workers show that smoking compounds the effects of asbestos damage to the lungs—but that veteran workers who quit smoking have the worst lung function in the group.

Reasons for the surprising results may be connected with what smokers do physically when they light up, Hall said. "They take a puff and inhale deeply. They exhale their lungs."

When the worker gives up smoking, he no longer exercises. Hall believes the lungs react the same way an unused muscle does—it quickly turns to fat.

Although Hall said he is not recommending that the workers go back to smoking to "improve" their lungs, the best thing the ex-smoker can do is substitute another form of exercise like running or swimming.

The study, presented at the American Industrial Hygiene Conference in Portland, Ore., tested 131 volunteers in Local One of the Asbestos Workers' Union.

Hall and his associate, John Cissik, first divided the workers into two categories: those with 20 years or less than 20 years' exposure to asbestos. To find out if smoking compounded the effects of the asbestos, the group were further subdivided into smokers, non-smokers and ex-smokers.

The tests showed a synergistic effect between smoking and exposure to asbestos. Total loss of lung function from both was greater than what would be expected from the individual effects taken separately.

Ex-smokers with more than 20 years' service had the worst lung function. But after 20 years, there was little difference between smokers and non-smokers.

Men who had never smoked and had worked less than 20 years had lungs closest to normal.

However, non-smokers fared better in all categories than their counterparts who once smoked or continue to smoke.

The other surprising result of the study suggests that most of the lung damage came in the first few years of asbestos exposure, Hall said. Although lung function continued to deteriorate over time, by the 20-year mark when the symptoms began to occur, most of the major damage had been done.

A complete report of the research will be published in the journal of the American Industrial Hygiene Association.

Steel Warehousing, Inc., buys American Sheet & Strip

Steel Warehousing, Inc., Iowa's largest steel service center, has acquired American Sheet & Strip Steel Company, Routes 111 and 162, it was announced Friday by Millie J. Hordesky, vice-president of Combined Investment Company.

Don Blumenthal, SWI president, reported that plans for expansion and increased services are being reviewed and some steps already have been taken. Blumenthal added that, although some of the acquired firm's market area was already being served, the additional services and product lines alone should result in greater sales.

Coordinating the American Sheet & Strip local operation with the parent SWI facilities is Barney C. O'Brien, executive vice-president. He is presently increasing the sales staff, product lines and programming computer services, it was announced.

SWI, headquartered in Des Moines, Iowa, has more than 5,000 different steel products in its inventory and provides customers with one-day delivery in most cases and same-day delivery in special cases.

Negotiations for the sale were initiated and conducted by Raymond F. Kozielec of Madison, president of Combined Investment Company, who declined to release information on acquisition price or terms.

City opposes utility rate hikes

Granite City officials plan to take a more active role in fighting requests for rate hikes by all utilities, the city council has decided.

Debate was sparked by notification from the Illinois Commerce Commission that Illinois-American Water Co. is seeking a rate hike. Alderman Casmer Skubish asked the council to go on record against the request and against pending telephone company rate hike requests.

He also suggested that the city atorney notify the Illinois Commerce Commission of the city's opposition to any increases.

"The general public never knows what it (a hike) is going to be. Take the 19.9 percent increase for electricity," Skubish said.

Mayor Paul Schuler agreed and noted that Alderman Warren Deatur of the Fourth Ward had just learned that the cost of electricity supplied to the city, including the street lights, was going to increase between 30 to 35 percent from Illinois Power Co.

"That means, we all take a 35 percent whack by being residents of the city. I am not going to say we were sold down the river by the people who negotiated this increase, and that's exactly what it is, negotiated between the utility, the objectors and the members of the Illinois Commerce Commission."

"In the past, we have just joined with some groups in opposing rate hikes. I think we should be strongly represented at those hearings and protest," the mayor said.

The council concurred.

Many license plates expiring

Secretary of State Jim Edgar today reminded passenger car owners whose license plate registrations expire at midnight Friday, July 31, that it's getting late to purchase their brown 1982 stickers.

Edgar said the stickers, which should be displayed in the upper right corners of the rear plates, may be purchased over the counter at many financial institutions participating in the license renewal program.

"Banks, savings and loan associations and currency exchanges provide convenient places to buy stickers throughout the state," Edgar said. "Last year, financial institutions sold more than two million stickers, 35 percent of all stickers sold by the secretary's office."

Anyone driving a car with an expired green, July, 1981, sticker may be ticketed and fined for improper registration beginning Saturday, Aug. 1.

Educational grants rise

Governor James R. Thompson announced Friday that he has signed a bill increasing the maximum educational grants from $150 to $250 for children of deceased or totally disabled veterans.

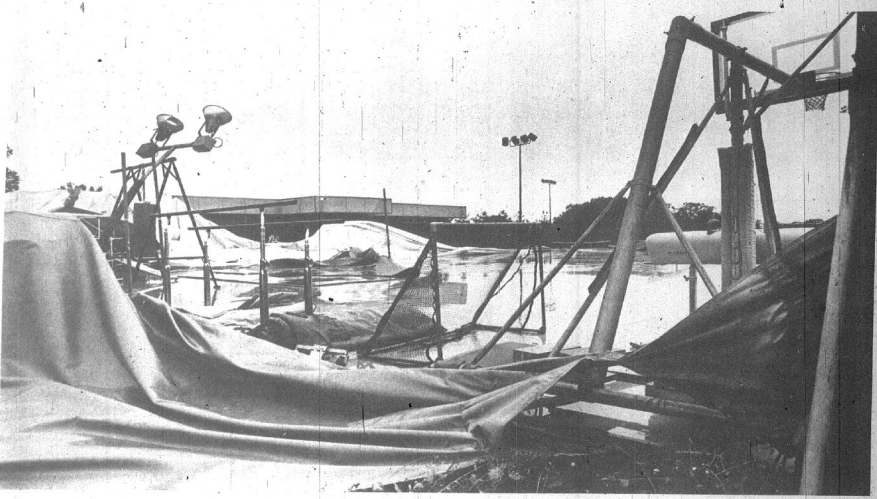

The educational grants may be used for tuition, books, fees, room and board and supplies. The grants are available for children ages 10 through 18.

House Bill 1537 takes effect Jan. 1, 1982. It currently provides grants to 2,066 children across the state. The Governor noted that the grant system became law in 1935 and the current maximum benefit level has not been raised to reflect inflationary pressures. "I believe the State of Illinois should increase its commitment to the children of those who have sacrificed themselves in the service of their country," Thompson said.

PERSHING BURGLARY

A $40 digital clock, $58 in cash and $74 worth of food stamps were stolen from the home of Janet Womack, 2837 Pershing Blvd., between 9 p.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday. The victim said an improper lock may have allowed entry.

THE BUBBLE BURST. The Bubble Gymnasium at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville fell victim to high winds which swept across the campus last week. Two students—Richard Collins and Tauya Chiwanga, both of Tower Lake Apartments—were in the gymnasium when the storm struck, but both escaped with minor injuries. University administrators were meeting Tuesday to deliberate the future of the structure which was erected in 1973 as an interim facility with a life expectancy of seven years. Construction began May 18 adjacent to the site on the University's new multipurpose building, which will include a gymnasium and swimming pool. Completion is expected to require nearly two years.

REBORN CUTTER. Illinois State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene does the honor of cutting a ribbon officially inaugurating the start of Bi-State Transit's newest line, the Bethalto-St. Louis

Rapid, in Bethalto. The new line and the extension of the Alton-Hazelwood Park-Ride line to Bethalto marks the beginning of Bi-State bus service to Bethalto.

GC student at orientation

More than 800 freshmen and transfer students visited the University of Kansas Lawrence, July 14, 16 and 18 to attend orientation sessions for new students and their parents. Among the freshmen men was Gail Lynn Roemer, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Gail Roemer of the Granite

City Army Installation. Fifteen one-day sessions were held during June and July to acquaint new students and their parents with the university and to enable newcomers to finish most of their enrollment for fall semester. Additional orientation programs are scheduled during registration and enrollment week Aug. 17 to 21. More information on orientation and enrollment can be obtained by writing or phoning the KU Office of Admissions and Records toll-free 1-800-255-6322.

CLAUDIA HAYNES MOSELEY
Chief Executive Officer

Hospital administrator was reared in Venice

Mrs. Claudia Haynes Moseley, of Venice, has been appointed chief executive officer (CEO) of the Community Hospital in East St. Louis.

Reared in Venice, she is the daughter of Venice Alderman and Mrs. Charles (Marie) Haynes.

As a youth, she attended Dunbar Elementary School, Madison High School and graduated from Lovejoy Senior High School.

Mrs. Moseley received a master's degree in June, 1975, in psychiatry and mental health nursing from Texas Women's University, Houston, Tex.

She also earned a master's degree in Educational Administration in June 1969 from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

She was first hired at Community Hospital, a 263-bed institution, as director of nursing, being a licensed registered nurse, was then promoted to assistant administrator and in June became CEO.

Just prior to moving back to the area, Mrs. Moseley worked as a nursing consultant in Los Angeles County, Calif., where she developed policy and procedure manuals, developing staff education programs, assessing inpatient units and conducting wage and salary surveys.

She also has worked as director of nursing at a psychiatric hospital in California.

She holds a bachelor's degree in nursing education from SIUE and a diploma in nursing from Homer G. Phillips Hospital School of Nursing in St. Louis.

More 'belt tightening' by Illinois

Governor James R. Thompson announced a $245 million, three percent cut last week in the general appropriations sent to him by the General Assembly. In total from all funds, the governor cut $369 million, including a $57 million technical markdown of transportation reappropriations.

"These are difficult times for state government and for most residents of our state," the governor said. "Difficult times require tough choices when it comes to our spending priorities."

"While these choices are difficult, they must be made if Illinois is to remain on a sound financial footing. The 'bottom line' is keeping the budget in balance to protect the state's fiscal integrity."

"When I went before the legislature in March to outline the state budget, I said that 'bottom line' was being written by forces beyond our control. That is still the case.

"With these cuts, we not only will be meeting the challenge of a recession but also the challenge of Illinois citizens to make state government less of a burden on their pocketbooks."

"In fact, after these cuts are made," Thompson said, "the total budget for the state of Illinois for the 1981-82 fiscal year will be $371 million less than the budget for last year."

He said the reductions are part of a continuing budgetary process by the state in response to economic conditions and federal actions.

The governor said the three percent reduction in the state's general fund budget was necessary because the recession and federal cutbacks have lowered revenue to the general fund, while at the same time high unemployment rates have caused the state to lose tax revenue.

"The recession has hit hard at the state's sales tax revenue," Thompson said, "dropping that revenue source significantly below earlier projections."

"Federal aid also is below earlier projections because of reductions in the federal budget. These, together with an overappropriation of the general fund by the legislature, require the cuts."

"With the reductions, Illinois will be in better fiscal shape than many Midwestern states, where governments are 'out of money' and have had to resort to short-term borrowing to pay bills."

"Also, the cuts will reduce the size of the state government workforce by leaving positions vacant that might normally be filled."

Services held for former resident

Private graveside services were held Friday, July 24, at Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township, for Mrs. Eva Mouradian, 80, of San Francisco, Calif., formerly of Granite City.

She died at 6:30 p.m. Monday, July 20, 1981, at home. Mrs. Mouradian had been ill for six months.

Born in Izmir, Turkey, she had lived in Granite City for 40 years prior to moving to California 20 years ago.

She was a member of the Armenian Church in San Francisco. Her husband, Hapart Mouradian, died Oct. 5, 1950.

Survivors include a son, Archie Mouradian; and two daughters, Misses Rose and Margaret Mouradian, all of San Francisco.

The Rev. Khoren Habeshian, pastor of St. Gregory Armenian Apostolic Church officiated at the services.

7,000 GALLONS OF FUEL OIL STOLEN

A tank truck was used to steal 7,000 to 8,000 gallons of No. 2 fuel oil this month from storage tanks at 3051 Nameoki Drive, authorities said Thursday. The owner is Kenneth Schwartzkopf of Edwardsville.

The intruder used a bolt cutter to remove locks from pumps at the oil storage facility, an investigation showed. Valves were left open and power was left on by the thief. The missing fuel oil is valued at $7,000.

GC actor now co-starring with Cloris Leachman

Mike Genovese, who graduated from Granite City High School in 1980, is now co-starring with Cloris Leachman at the Westport Playhouse in west St. Louis County in the comedy play, "Twigs."

In December 1980, he played Scrooge in the Repertory Theater of St. Louis' production of A Christmas Carol.

He was a member of the resident company from 1969 to 1973 as well as serving on the teaching staff of the Webster College Theater Conservatory.

In "Twigs, Miss Leachman exhibits versatility by playing all four women in a comic portrayal of the effect one mother has on her three daughters' lives. The play was held over for seven weeks when it recently played in Chicago to rave reviews.

Cloris Leachman is best known to television audiences as Phyllis Diller on the Mary Tyler Moore Show and in her own series, Phyllis.

She has also been in many movies, ranging from Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid and Young Frankenstein to The Last Picture Show, for which she received a supporting actress Academy Award.

"Twigs will run at the Westport Playhouse through Aug. 15, with eight performances weekly—Tuesday through Sunday at 8:15 p.m. and matinees Wednesday and Sunday at 2 p.m.

Chase stolen motorcycle

A man on a stolen motorcycle managed to escape from authorities after the cycle was chased from Lincoln Place into North St. Louis early Saturday.

A Granite City policeman first saw the cycle eastbound on Niedringhaus Avenue at a high rate of speed on only the rear wheel at 2:40 a.m. Saturday.

The cycle violated the stop signs at Chestnut and Walnut streets and was chased left on Walnut to St. Louis Avenue, left on St. Louis Avenue through stop signs at Maple, Spruce and Poplar, and left on Poplar to Niedringhaus Avenue where it violated the stop sign and turned right onto Niedringhaus Avenue.

The chase continued west to Route 3 where the motorcycle turned north and reached speeds in excess of 100 m.p.h., the chasing officer reported. A second Granite City police car joined the chase at West Pontoon Road and area police agencies were advised of the police radio of the chase in progress.

A state trooper waited on Route 3 at West Chain of Rocks Road, but the cycle was able to get past the state police car, which then joined in the chase. The cycle turned west on Interstate 270 and was chased across the Mississippi River to Riverview Drive in St. Louis.

Granite City police cars followed the chase on Interstate 270 and the trooper later reported that his cruiser struck the cycle on the interstate about one-quarter mile west of Route 367 and the rider fled on foot and escaped.

The cycle was found to have been stolen in Madison County, the trooper said.

Car hits 2 poles

Billy R. Norton, 26, of 3801 Lake Drive, Lot 228, Pontoon Beach, was admitted to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, with possible head and spinal injuries following a truck accident on Madison Avenue north of the curve at 15th Street at 11 p.m. Saturday.

Witnesses said Norton's roundabout pickup truck rounded the curve and, for no apparent reason, continued to turn, going into the parking lot of Pony's Restaurant, 1504 Madison Ave., where it struck a utility pole and a pole holding up the restaurant's sign.

Two open beer bottles were found in the cab of the truck, one half-full of cold beer. Norton was charged with illegal transportation of alcohol and was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was examined and was ordered transferred to the St. Louis hospital.

Couple asks County Board to help them regain home

By JUDY TAPLIN

In one of the most unusual requests ever to come before the Madison County board, a man and his wife are asking for help in getting their home back.

Richard and Grace Parker have lived on Route 4, Edwardsville, for about 35 years. According to their attorney, Tad Armstrong, they failed to pay their real estate taxes in 1975 and, through a series of circumstances, never knew that their home had been sold later for delinquent taxes.

The Parkers paid their taxes in 1976, 1977 and 1978. Sometime after September, 1979, when the three-year period for paying taxes to redeem their property had run out, they received a letter from the new owner.

That was, Armstrong says, the first they knew that their taxes were delinquent. By then it was too late.

Armstrong says the Parkers did actually pay their real estate taxes in 1975, but that the check was returned for insufficient funds.

Mrs. Parker, who handles the couple's check writing, was unaware the check was returned, the attorney said, and she does not remember receiving a notice from her bank.

Parker is employed at Olin Company in East Alton. Mrs. Parker is a teacher in the Collinsville school district.

Their home, valued at $40,000, had been completely paid for by the Parkers.

Armstrong has filed a "Section 72" petition with the circuit court in an effort to overturn the judgment which gave the tax deed to a new owner.

But he notes that the Illinois Supreme Court has said fraud has to be proved in order for a landowner to get his property back through this method. The Parkers are not alleging that fraud is involved.

Armstrong said a Madison County judge has not yet ruled on the Section 72 petition.

In the meantime, he has another proposal for the county board, involving a little-known county indemnity fund.

Counties are required by state law to have an indemnity fund for persons "who without fault or negligence" of their own sustain loss or damage by reason of the issuance of a tax deed.

Under the law, the indemnity is limited to the fair cash value of the real estate, less any mortgage or lien.

In other words, the Parkers could petition the court for $40,000 from the county's indemnity fund.

"This particular statute is not widely known because a situation like this rarely occurs. As a matter of fact, it is my understanding that this is the first time it has happened in this county,"

Armstrong said in a letter to the county board.

The county's indemnity fund, presently containing $85,000, comes from a $10 fee charged to each person who purchases land for delinquent taxes.

Armstrong says the Parkers have filed an indemnity suit against Treasurer Mick Henkhaus in accordance with the state indemnity law. The case hasn't been heard yet.

What Armstrong is proposing to the Madison County board is that it agree to pay Parkers $10,000 or more out of the indemnity fund.

The person who bought the Parkers' house for taxes is willing to settle the case for a total amount of $15,000, Armstrong said.

If the county paid $10,000, the Parkers would be out a total of $5,000 to get their home back.

Armstrong said he hoped the county would see fit to pay the entire $15,000, however.

A resolution to this effect was to be presented to the county board last week. However, the taxation committee asked that it be held over for study.

Armstrong says there is solid evidence that the Parkers weren't aware that their home had been sold for delinquent taxes.

The fact that they continued to pay taxes the next three years is part of this evidence, he said. The first notice of the tax sale erroneously went to a Richard Parker Jr. and Mary V. Parker and was not received by the clients, the attorney said.

Armstrong said he can prove the Parkers were both at work the day a second notice was supposedly served by a sheriff's deputy June 1, 1979.

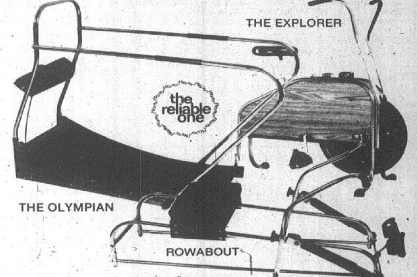

There are other notices in the county file indicating that they were returned from the post office, Armstrong said. Adding to the confusion was the fact that Mrs. Parker's mother's residence, adjacent to his client's land, was sold for taxes at about this same time, Armstrong said. But in that case, a notice was received and the property owners paid their back taxes within the three-year redemption period.

While it might appear that Mrs. Parker was negligent back in 1975 when she failed to reconcile her bank statement—and thus failed to realize that the tax bill hadn't actually been paid—Armstrong notes that in a 1976 case in Illinois it was ruled that a party need not be totally blameless to collect from the county indemnity fund.

World Of Music

Chaka Khan means sassy funk

By ROBIN WELLES

HOLLYWOOD — Chaka Khan sounds like an import from the Middle East, but actually she was born 28 years ago in Chicago under the name of Yvette Marie Stevens.

And the name Chaka Khan has its origins in Africa, a name that translates as fire, war and the color red.

It's pertinent because that's the kind of music she performs: sizzling rhythm and blues and sassy funk.

Chaka was known for a number of years as the main attraction of Rufus that started out playing clubs in the Midwest. With the success of her "Tell Me Something Good," written by Stevie Wonder, she struck out on her own and quickly hit gold with another million-seller, "I'm Every Woman."

Her latest album for Warner Bros. is called "What Cha' Gonna Do For Me," a neatly packaged collection of a dozen songs that range from the Beatles' classic, "We Can Work It Out" to "And The Melody Still Lingers On (Night in Tunisia)." The latter features guest performances by Dizzy Gillespie and Herbie Hancock.

CHUCK MANGIONE - Tarantella (A and M) — The

jazz benefit for Italian earthquake victims got under way shortly after 9 p.m. at the Americana Hotel in Rochester, N.Y., and didn't wind up until 5 a.m. Mangione, a magician with the flugelhorn, was joined by trumpeter Dizzy Gillespie, keyboard ace Chick Corea and other top musicians in the musical marathon before 1,000 cheering fans. Some of the best from that great night is on this two-record LP.

LEE RITENOUR - "RIT" (Elektra-Asylum) — Although still in his 20s, Ritenour has established himself solidly as one of the nation's top guitarists. He's in the tradition of Wes Montgomery, one of his heroes when he was growing up in Los Angeles. Lee is called "Captain Fingers," and indeed he is.

GRACE JONES - Nightclubbing (Island) — The Jamaican-born Jones brought the sensual rhythms of that Caribbean island with her to the United States. Some see her as the "new wave" of disco. She also projects a "tough woman" image of leather and black stiletto heels. A strange act to catch, nothing quite like her.

She's turned on by her own commercials

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — JENNIFER O'NEILL is in Los Angeles for a month shooting "The Other Victim" for CBS, but it isn't her acting she wants you to compliment these days, it's her clothes.

Jennifer's line of sportswear for women has just gone on sale in New York and will soon go national. It's a line of moderately priced blouses, jackets and pants, all of which Jennifer had a hand in designing. WARREN HIRSH, the merchandising genius behind GLORIA VANDERBILT's line of jeans, is handling Jennifer's "wardrobe."

Jennifer's gotten a particular thrill out of sitting in her Westchester County, N.Y., home and turning on the TV set to see the product commercials, currently airing there. Not only is she in the commercial, Jennifer also conceived and wrote it, wrote the music, sings the theme song and narrates. She did everything but edit the film.

In fact, she's discovered she really likes running the show and part of her Hollywood stay has been devoted to promoting her own project entitled "No Job For a Lady," a TV movie and possible series about a female veterinarian.

And she does know about animals, with 10 dogs and numerous horses and other critters about the house. Jennifer still makes regular trips to the dog pound to pick up strays. It can be trying on her current husband, businessman John Lederer, father of her young son, Reis Michael. Also living in the menagerie is Amie, Jennifer's 14-year-old daughter from a previous marriage.

Another star with an expanding repertoire is JEFF CONAWAY, currently on location shooting "Nashville Grab."

Jeff has been singing on stage since he was a lad, but in "Nashville" he gets to do country-western tunes, some from his own pen. Perhaps consolation for the fact that his marriage, which isn't that old, won't finish out the year.

Wedding bells could actually be ringing for ERIK STRADA and BEVERLY SASSOON, who are reportedly busy flying here and there to meet each other's families.

Erik wants to buy Beverly a house in Hawaii and she wants to keep him on a health regimen, something she knows much about. He's been doing a lot of running lately, fitting his laps in during the early morning and late afternoon when the L.A. smog is at its weakest. She's been throwing parties in his honor.

Meanwhile, "CHiPs" partner LARRY WILCOX has turned producer with "The Dorothy Stratten" story for NBC. The network gave him a production deal so he wouldn't be upset that Erik has a piece of the show itself.

SCOTT BAIO has been given the go-ahead for "We're Movin'," a half-hour magazine-format show for the younger crowd. Scott, known to his fans as the young Romeo on "Happy Days," is the host of the show, which takes him to various spots and through activities of interest to the school-age. It starts September and is syndicated.

Many actors crave the chance to direct and WILLIAM SHATNER is getting that chance. He'll be overseeing a local production of TENNESSEE WILLIAMS' "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof" with wife MARCY LAFERTY in the leading role.

Word in town is that DAVID STEINBERG will emerge as a director to take note of. Like Shatner, a former-turned-director, Steinberg took the reins of "Paternity" because his business partner and pal BURT REYNOLDS couldn't find anyone else.

The feature, from Paramount, also stars BEVERLY D'ANGELO, and people who have seen the rough cut of the picture say Steinberg has gotten a tremendous performance out of her.

At the same time, Reynolds-Steinberg Productions still has an exclusive two-year pact with ABC for TV properties and are awaiting the green light on a late-night series pilot entitled "The Fourth Network."
